

Foreword

Chris and Peter now present their update taking us to the end of 2023.

Preface to previous version:

In the 2005 edition of A Guide To Hank Marvin And The Shadows On CD Les Woosey and I documented CD product released between 1984 and 2004 featuring the group both with and without Cliff Richard, together with Hank Marvin's solo work and the recordings of Marvin, Welch & Farrar. The update presented here by Chris van Horssen and Peter Verweij takes us to the end of 2023.

The basic format and approach of the Guide is reflected in these pages, but there are three divergencies in the form of supplementary detail:

(i) A new category is incorporated, Hank Marvin's (cameo) appearances, particularly significant when the title is an instrumental; they are itemised also in the closing Tracklisting A-Z. Besides that there is a list of CDs on which Hank accompanies a male or female vocalist. Titles Hank did with Cliff are listed under the normal category and under Tracklisting A-Z.

(ii) Cliff Richard CDs: over the last two years or so a large number were released or re-released. Listed here are the important ones and those on which The Shadows or Hank are involved and/or have solo spots. There are also some song titles that were not available on CD up to 2004.

(iii) In the CD Guide Les and I resolved to steer clear of anything that was patently counterfeit or bootleg. This applied most particularly to product from Russia, much of it sporting lurid cover art and even at times tracks not actually by The Shadows themselves, thus shunting numbers like Red River Rock for instance into wholly alien territory. Chris and Peter have now rounded up for this survey a fair number of these items and added more from this country and others from the post-2004 period. This approach has validity in the sense that it does reflect market forces, however disreputable, shambolic and pointless. Indeed, CD output of early material has got completely out of hand of late: the relaxation of the copyright laws has spawned a flood of predatory releases whose chief and usually only merit (the odd novelty or curiosity aside) resides in their rock bottom pricing. They will appeal to collectors/fans who derive satisfaction from the thought that they are getting an awful lot of what they already have many times over for practically no outlay.

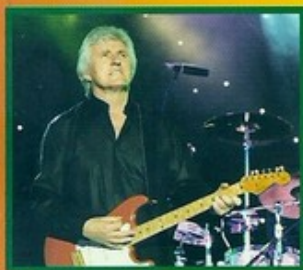

The abbreviations ITG and NITG refer to tracks and denote individual time given/no individual time given.

But we are not certain, whether the one on the right above, has been commercially released.

[Live 11, 1965, Holland]

Misc. Both date and location are wrong in the sleeve notes: although sleeve notes say that track 16 to 26 are recorded on august 31, 1965 during the North Sea Festival in the Hague, Holland, the tracks must have been recorded during the Festival with the same name in Ostend, Belgium. After FOOT TAPPER (track 18), Hank says "It's marvellous to be back here in Ostend". So the tracks must have been at the end of august, 1965 in Belgium. (Thanks to Phil Goodwin on the "Shadows Collectors Corner" on Facebook)

HOWEVER : to avoid confusion in this update, we used the sleeve notes in the listing A-Z.
